FREEDOM OF THE SEAS.

[A la Francais.]

If more proof is wanting to establish the fact of the cruel treatment towards the poor unfortunate shipwrecked American seamen in Cadiz bay, by the French soldiers, take the following:

"I the subcriber, supercargo of the brig Smilax, of Philadelphia, whereof John Johnson was master, do hereby certify that the said brig Smilax went on shore on the east side of the bay of Cadiz, during the late gale which commenced on the 4th, and continued until the 9th of March, and that the vessel and cargo was taken possession of and burnt by the French, as was the fate of ALL the American vessels which went ashore, and that captain Johnson, as well as ALL the other captains and men which were on board their vessels, although they had their papers belonging to the vessels to prove themselves American citizens, were made prisoners.—And I do further declare that the commanding officer of the British fleet, admiral John C. Purvis, rendered every assistance in his power to the American vessels during the gale, and in endeavouring to save an American brig, lost a boat and 20 men.

CHARLES GOVET.

Philadelphia, April 23, 1810."

Fellow Citizens, picture to yourselves the situation of these poor shipwrecked American seamen. Behold them crawling on the shore from the watry element half exhausted with fatigue. Imagine to yourselves what must have been their feelings, while in that situation, to see themselves surrounded by a blood thirsty horde of French soldiers, and marched off to prison. Look at them huddled together like swine, in filthy French dungeons, sick, pale and emaciated. Not a soul to administer to their wants or impart one word of consolation to their broken hearts. Many of them have wives and children in this country, half distracted at the thought of their cruel treatment. And yet it is looked on as a crime by the French jacobins in this country, not to adore these monsters. Gracious God, what shall we come to next!

FROM THE ORACLE.

"He who hath ears to hear let him hear." It is time that fiction should give place to reality—it is time that truth should be enforced on the understandings of men—An awful crisis is approaching, the polititical hemisphere is curtained with darkness.—A sickly ray of light is occasionally seen which only serves to make the prospect more dreadful. Love of country has given place to love of office. Noise is substituted for argument—abuse for wit, and our papers groan beneath the weight of dulness. Where is the patriotism of seventy five?—Where are our revolutionary characters?—Where the disinterestedness that characterised the early days of our revolution? buried in the tomb of forgetfulness and only a feeble recollection of those hayleon days rests on our minds. There was a time when labor could find employ; when industry met its reward; when enterprize was crowned with success; when our ships were freighted to every part of the globe, and our wharves were loaded with the products of foreign climes. When Washington ruled our councils, our congress was the glory and the boast of our country, and the admiration of the civilized world. The treasury was competent to all the wants of the nation, and a defalcation in a public officer was a strange thing in our land. In those days the people's money was not taken to support the representatives of the U. States for months without same account being given of their usefulness and their exertions for the welfare of our common country. In those days midnight meetings were not held to displace the worthy and exalt the ignorant. We were then Americans we loved our country. What has occasioned the dreadful reverse between those days and the present? The writer of this paragraph sickens at the survey: who dares view with me the inside of a political charnel house? The causes which have so shaded the picture of our prosperity, will make the frown of indignation curl on the brow of every honest man; the curtain must rise, and the principal actors in our political drama, be introduced face to face, to their injured and abused countrymen.

FOREIGN.

(VIA NEW-YORK.)

LONDON, March 18.

The enemy had not as late as the 11th of February taken possession of Alicant: Letters from hence contain a statement which for the common credit of the American name, we could wish to attach no belief. It is said that a correspondence has been detected between some Americans residents in Alicant, and the enemy, in consequence of which every American had been secured, and thrown into prison, by order of the governor. The American consul, Mr. Montgomery, is said to hsve been implicated, and was compelled to share the fate of his countrymen.

Sir Richard Strachan is, we understand, appointed to succeed admiral Drury, in the command on the India station, and that the Cæsar is again preparing to receive his flag.

March 20.

The proposals recently received from France for an exchange of the French medical Staff taken in Walcheren, for that part of the English medical staff which had been left with our sick and wounded at Talvera. A civil message has likewise been received from Bonaparte, relative to the conduct of an English officer, whose name for the present we shall forbear to mention, but whom the French government fancy they are compelled to try by a court marshal. His alleged offence is this: that having been on his parole, but being, on account of some irregularity, subjected to a more rigorous confinement, he had repeatedly escaped from prison, and had as repeatedly been retaken. The last time he absconded, he joined two French deserters, and attempted to effect his escape with them. The offence for which he is to be tried, is for having rescued these deserters from the gens d'armes, in whose custody they were. The English officer presented a memorial in exculpation of his conduct: but the offence is represented to be such as to render the form of a trial indispensable. Bonaparte, however, has consented, that in the event of his being found guilty, he shall be pardoned; but that, with the form of trial, the laws and constitution of the French empire cannot dispense.

(VIA BALTIMORE.)

LIVERPOOL, March 24.

American produce generally dull for some time. The interruption of credit, by some considerable failures, contributed materially to this event. The payment by acceptance of this was broken by the sudden shock to which we have just alluded. Some time must elapse before confidence is restored. Its restoration to its former extent is neither desired nor expected.

Cotton, 1s 3 1-2d to 2s 5d. Stock of American cottons on hand 68 to 75,000 packages; total consumption, including a weekly export from London of about 500, safely calculated at 7000 packages weekly; but owing to late political changes and alliances, our intercourse with the continent is like to experience great and increasing difficulties.

Clover Seed—12 to 13d. [another letter of the same date, 100 to 120s. cwt.] The excessive wetness of the summer nearly destroyed our crop; supplies from the North of Europe deemed precarious.

Flour—super Am. sweet, 54 to 60 [the other letter, 58 to 62, in demand.]

Grain——Wheat, 15 to 16 per 70lb; Indian Corn, 5s to 5s 6d. Other articles dull.

Flax Seed, for crushing, 11 to 12s 6d; for sowing, 14 to 15d. dull,

Tobacco——York and James River, 5 to 10d; Potomac & Rhappahannock 4 to 7d; Stemed, 3 to 16d; Maryland, brown, 5; Kiteloot 9. Full 6,000 hhds in store and dock; not above 600 good. Inferior sorts without demand; even prime declining.

Naval Stores——very dull.

(VIA NORFOLK.)

Translations from Spanish papers received at the office of the Norfolk Public Ledger.

Extracts from the Gazettes of the Regency of Spain and the Indies of the 13th of March 1810.

TARRAGONA, (Catalonia) Jan. 17.

The occurrences within these few days past have been most glorious for the arms of the king. On the 12th the enemy in number of more than 10,000 men passed through Gran-de-Olot and other points, and directed their course towards Vich, whence they attempted to go as far as Noya, and to open themselves a passage through Collsuspina.

The division of brigadier Porta was attacked at the moment that it was going to form a junction with that of marshall O'Donell, from the town of Centellas to the position of Collsuspina, where the latter general was posted. The superiority in numbers of the enemy made him at first gain some advantages upon general Porta's division, which compelled him to quicken his march: but he having soon formed a junction with gen. O'Donell in Collsuspina, the columns of the enemy were attacked with so much gallantry, that after a bloody action they betook themselves to a disorderly flight, in which they were protected by the darkness of the night: thus general Sohuam who commanded the enemy was completely repulsed, and although he had double forces, our troops took 80 officers and more than 100 privates prisoners; they left besides more than 200 dead on the field of battle. It is supposed that they carried away great numbers of wounded.

January 27.

There has just landed in this town twenty thousand quarters of wheat. Day before yesterday, four hundred prisoners, among them seventeen officers were brought in here; the day before that a colonel had been brought in who commanded in the action of Mollet. This day several waggons loaded with French, wounded come in—We expect a few hundred more prisoners will be brought in.

SEVERA, (Catalonia,) Jan. 23.

Various persons from the vicinity of Hulstarich, report in positive terms that the French suffered a complete defeat before that castle, and that the number of their wounded in Barcelona is very considerable.

January 24.

The supreme government have appointed marshal general O'Donell, commander in chief pro tempore of this province; the great confidence that the people of this province have in this gallant and distinguished officer makes us hope very agreeable results from his appointment.

CADIZ, March 8.

On the 16th instant was introduced to the supreme council of the regency of Spain and the Indies, residing at the isle de Leon, the right honorable Henry Wellesley, his Britannic majesty's minister plenipotentiary and extraordinary to this government. He exhibited his instructions, and on this occasion new pledges were given with mutual satisfaction of the firm alliance and sincere friendship which from the beginning of our glorious revolution have united the two nations to resist the common enemy, and defend the liberty and independence of Spain, so cruelly and unjustly invaded. The tyrant and usurper of the continent will receive with grief this news, at a time when he supposed in his pride, our provinces were subdued, our government done away, and our political and commercial relations with the powerful and generous English nation at an end.

We have received the pleasing intelligence from the Eastern coast that the French have retired from Malaga, Marbella, Estepona, Tarifa, Saint Roique and Algesiras, no doubt afraid of the patriotic insurrection which is taking place in that part of the country and mountains. Of seven hundred men that had entered Ximena four hundred were put to the sword, the rest succeeded in making their escape, carrying with them count Montarco, one of the councellors of state of the intruder Joseph, commissioned by him to pervert and seduce the people. In Ronda there were about seven thousand peasants armed, who had charged and pursued the dispersed enemy. Six hundred men had marched from Algesiras to join the armed people of 24 towns, with whom the people of Saint Roque and Tarifa, were to be incorporated. They are provided with eighty thousand cartridges.

March 17.

The Supreme Council of Regency has received the following official communication from the officer commanding the troops and armed people who defended the passes of Serrania de Ronda.

"Most Excellent Sir,

"My soul is overjoyed. I summoned the French commander in Ronda, and received an answer in the usual French stile; still he did not think proper to wait for me, but preferred a disgraceful flight, in which I do not expect one single man will escape, according to the measures which I had previously adopted. I have entered Ronda, Te Deum has been sung, and our beloved Ferdinand is obeyed by all, and in his absence the wise government which now directs the council of the nation. I will hereafter write to your excellency more in detail.

(Signed)
FRANCISCO GAMZATEZ.

BALTIMORE, April 30.

Arrived, schooner Spy, Durkee, 28 days from Amsterdam, being ordered off—Hollins and M'Blair. Sailed from the Texel April 2. Vessels lying in the different ports of Holland; ship Friendship, Stanton, from N. York; Harmony, Hewes, Boston, with coffee, sugar, tobacco, &c. arrived at the Texel June 29th, taken by French privateers within the buoys, but reclaimed by the Dutch government and the cargoes given up to the consignees, reclaimed again by the privateers having appealed in France; Harmony, Snow, Boston, taken by French privateers; ship Whampoa, from New-York, arrived there 28th March, and was taken possession of after entering the Texel by two French boats, who with others have stationed themselves there, & board every vessel entering the Texel. The Dutch government order away every vessel that comes in there, except those captured by said boats—The British vessels on the Texel are very numerous and vigilant. Capt. D. brought no newspapers. The king of Holland had not yet returned, but expected shortly after the celebration of the marriage ceremonials at Paris, when the Dutchmen expected there would be some relaxation in the commercial restrictions. Left at the Texel, Rupert, (or Respect) Burkee, New York, taken by French privateers, ship and cargo condemned, cargo sold 28th March; Mary, Edes, Boston, taken by a French privateer; Planter, Davis, Norfolk, taken by do. bound to Bordeaux; Charlotte, Elliott, Boston, came in in distress, bound to Petersburg. At Ferschelling, Galenus, Merryhew, Petersburg, taken by a French privateer: Susan Delano, N. York, taken by do; Vigilant, Combs, Va. taken by do.

At five o'clock the company sat down to an elegant dinner under the tent of Washington, which being extended by using its various curtains and appendages, contained a table of ninety six feet in length, with one hundred and twenty plates. The portrait of the chief was suspended at the upper end, surrounded with a wreath of laurel, and the whole canopy being hung with festoons of the same, it had a most impressive and picturesque appearance.

The honorable John Campbell, member of congress from Maryland, R. M. Scott, and J. Swift, Esquires, Vice Presidents.

After dinner the following toasts were drank.

By Mr. Custis,

Agriculture, the basis of our strength; Commerce, the patron of our labor, and Manufactures the resource for our wants: May these important interests ever be united with generous sympathy, in support of the wealth, industry and independence of the republic.

By Mr. Custis, (Which was drank standing, and with all the homage due on the occasion.)

To the memory of Washington, the Roman father of his country; whose virtues could once adorn the chair of state, and grace the humble walks of private life. May the remembrance of our departed benefactor, his maxims, his precepts and example arise, like a kindred spirit, to guide the destinies of that nation, whose happiness he lived to accomplish, and whose fame he hath rendered immortal.

By Mr. Campbell,

The state of Virginia, the strongest link in the federal chain.

By Mr. Scott,

The President of the U. States;

By Mr. Swift,

Mr. Custis and the Arlington institution.

Mr. Custis arose and thanked the company for the honor they had done him in drinking his health, and in an appropriate and elegant speech, expressed his determination to persevere in the system he had begun, and to observe that day, (his birth day) in a similar manner to the end of his life.

By Dr. Stuart,

The patriots of Spain, brave, but unfortunate, may their glorious efforts be crowned with success, or if doomed to suffer the expiring pang of European freedom, like the Sampson of old, may they grasp the temple of rational liberty, and crush with its ruins the oppressors of mankind.

A letter from Amsterdam of March 14, which may be depended on, says:

"Accordingly to the last advices from Hamburg, they were afraid the American property would again be put under sequestration; besides a Decree was passed by the Danish government forbidding Exportations beyond the frontiers of Holstein, under very heavy penalties and imprisonment All trade is at a stand."

French Intrigue. —— The following is an extract of a letter to a gentleman in N. York, dated at Montreal, the 22d March.

"The Post from Quebec, on Monday last, was stopped by express order from Sir James Craig, the Courier arrested, and all the letters ordered for inspection. The exact truth has not yet reached this place; but I am happy to say, that it is very certain several members of the late House of Assembly are now in Quebec Jail, in consequence of a discovery of a seditious correspondence. I am very glad it (the discovery) has taken place, for liberty here is carried to licentiousness, and from the highest Canadian to the lowest, a severe check is absolutely necessary. It is said that a direct correspondence with France has been discovered ——It is my real opinion that this Province is as completely organized as any revolutionary country ever was."

Mr. Randolph has been very eloquent and severe on his quondom friends in the house for two or three days past. Every opposition was formally made by the democrats to a navy. Now, when he is anxious to reduce that navy, they are anxious to retain it. Who has forgotten the instructions of the legislature of Virginia ten years ago to their members of congress to use their influence to destroy the navy altogether? Yet Mr. Giles is now for keeping it in repair. But who looks for consistency among democrats? When the lamb shall suck the lioness, and whales go ashore hunting for buffaloes, democrats shall be consistent and jacobins honest.

SPAIN.——CADIZ, March 22

"The critical situation of this garrison, and the effect which its fate will have on Europe, persuade me that you are anxious to hear from us. Forty seven days we have been in a state of seige, during which the French have made little progress. Their army we estimate at about twenty five thousand; Marshal Soult commands, under him are Ney and Victor; king Joseph, with Sebastiani at Malaga. Our garrison, 5000 British; 1,500 Portuguese, and 1300 Spanish troops; and we have nine sail of the line British, besides Spanish, &c.—Provisions plenty except fresh beef. It appears that this place may, from the necessity of the case, (should the French conquer the rest of Spain) be yet rendered a second Gibraltar. Confidence in the success of the patriots is perhaps weakened, from the circumstance of the French having changed their plan. They throw off tythes, abolish the interior custom houses, and resort to other practices to conciliate the lower classes of the people. The people here, long convinced that the British troops are not as they were represented by French proclamations; add to this, that the commercial party greatly preponderates, and you will not consider it impossible, that in failure on the continent, the two Gibraltars will be beyond the reach of France. Except provisions, American produce will not sell; and is shipped to England.

"P. S. March 24.—We just learn, that the French are driven from Malaga. They abandoned that city on the 17th, after having plundered it throughout; this retrograde argues their weakness, and that their reinforcements do not arrive."

IN COMMON COUNCIL,

May 1, 1810.

Resolved, That John Sutton and Charles I. Cuthell, be a committee to wait on Robert I. Taylor, and to procure from him and from the Collector's books, and from the clerk's office if necessary, a correct account of the old delinquents, and the proper form of a notice, and that they procure the said notices to be given in due time, in order to obtain judgment at the next court of law for Alexandria county.

Ordered, That the east end of Princestreet be paved according to law, Provided, the proprietors of property on said street pay the expences before commencing the work.

On balloting for a superintendant of police, in place of Alexander Smith, resigned: Richard Lewis is duly elected.

Ordered, That the superintendant of police do immediately give notice to the owners of the property on the west side of Union-street between King & Cameron-streets, whereon there is at present a pool of stagnant water, to have the same filled up agreeable to a report of George Gilpin, Esquire, public surveyor, dated 27th April, 1810; and should the owners of said property refuse or fail to fill up said ground, that the police officer proceed to fill up the same agreeable to the said report, and that the expence attending the same be recovered according to the law in such case made and provided.

Ordered, That the superintendant of police do proceed to pave the gutter from the pump lately erected at the intersection of Gibbon and Water-streets, across Water-street.

Resolved, That John Muncaster be authorised to contract for and have repaired in a proper manner, that part of the wharf which belongs to the corporation, and which adjoins his wharf between Duke & Wolfe-streets, and that he be allowed the expence attending the same out of the last year's rent, which will be due and payable by him for the stone warehouse and wharf he now holds under the corporation: Provided, the expence attending the same does not exceed 75 dollars—it being understood that he is to keep and return the said property in good order at the expiration of his term in the same.

Ordered, That the superintendant of police proceed immediately to pave the intersection of King and Henry-streets, so as to make the same permanent and passible for foot passengers, and also pave the intersection of Prince and Patrick-streets.

On balloting for members of the board of health, the following gentlemen were duly elected:

Andrew Jamieson, William S. Moore, Joseph Riddle, William Patten, George Deneale, John Lloyd, John Muncaster, Samuel Harper, Thomas Janney.

Resolved, That it is the opinion of this Council, that the members of the Common Council of Alexandria should, in consideration of their services to the public as members of the Council, be excused from militia duty while they are members, and that major Adam Lynn, clerk of the said Council, and capt. Charles L. Nevitt, be requested to express this opinion to the legionary court of officers and endeavor to obtain their sanction thereto.

Ordered, That the sum of twenty dollars be appropriated to the relief of Mrs. Berry, living on Columbus street, between King and Cameron streets, and that the president of the trustees of the poor house, be authorised to afford her from time to time such relief as he may think proper.

Extract from the minutes.

RUNAWAY NEGROES.

Ran away on Saturday 28th of April last, a negro fellow named ROBERT, calls himself Robert Thompson. He is about twenty three years old, about five feet nine or ten inches high, handsome and very well made, has a scar on one of his cheeks, and one on one of his hands occasioned from the cut of a knife—his clothing is not particularly recollected. Also, a negro woman named LEAH, about twenty five years old, with her child nearly or about eighteen months old, she is about the common size, and far advanced in pregnancy. I will give thirty dollars for apprehending said negro if out of the state, and twenty dollars if within the state; and all reasonable charges if brought home.
